Biopôle Lausanne is an innovation-oriented life sciences campus in Switzerland, bringing together a strong and vibrant community of industry and academic specialists. It offers a unique combination of world-class infrastructure, a comprehensive range of services and a variety of high-quality spaces in which to work, innovate and engage with other members of the life sciences community.

Life sciences research and business development accelerate at Biopôle. This is thanks to the convergence of multiple therapeutic focuses, areas of expertise and commercial approaches, alongside stakeholders who support and learn from each other. All community members work towards the same goal: the improvement of patient outcomes.

This Discovery Day provides you with the opportunity to present a challenge or opportunity you are currently facing in your business to a trust group of 12-15 high-caliber executives, business leaders and CEOs.
